

Close bathroom door while showering

Set any mechanical ventilation to the highest setting. After showering, keep the ventilation running for at least 15 minutes. Dry the bathroom after showering: use the Kennemer Wonen squeegee to dry the shower tiles. Don't forget to dry the floor tiles as well.

Measure humidity

The humidity in the home should be between 40 and 60 percent. You can measure this with a hygrometer. The temperature throughout the home should be at least 15 to 20 degrees Celsius.

Ventilate during cooking

Cooking with lids on pots saves energy and reduces moisture in the kitchen. Use the extractor hood in the kitchen to remove vapors and steam. Set any mechanical ventilation to the highest setting.

Always leave mechanical ventilation or the heat recovery unit ON. Never unplug the installation!

Air regularly

Open the windows for about 20 minutes every day to let fresh air in. Fresh air is easier and quicker to heat up.

Ensure airflow

Avoid placing furniture or heavy curtains in front of the heating. Also keep the furniture some distance from the walls. This allows warm air to flow freely.

Tips on how to prevent mold

When it comes to preventing mold, proper ventilation is crucial. Mold is a common and bothersome issue, especially in poorly ventilated spaces. It can lead to musty odors in your home and even cause health problems, such as respiratory infections or breathing difficulties.

Kennemer Wonen is here to assist you in keeping your home mold-free. In this booklet, we provide several practical tips to help you maintain a moldfree living environment. Let's work together to create a healthy atmosphere.

As an additional measure, we're including the Kennemer Wonen window squeegee with this booklet. Keep the squeegee in your bathroom to wipe down the walls and floor after showering. This simple step can significantly help to prevent mold growth.

Dry your laundry outside

Dry your laundry outside or spin it thoroughly before hanging it up to dry. If you dry your laundry inside, always open a window.

Always leave the vents in the window frames open

This ensures a continuous supply of fresh air. Clean the vents at least twice a year to prevent blockage.

Heat your house properly

Heat your house properly. Set the heating to 18°C or higher during the day. Don't limit heating to just your living room, but heat your entire house. Rooms that are often cold provide a better environment for mold growth. Set the heating to 15°C at night.
